

16 November 2021

This document outlines planned offers for candidates to support their preparation for the EQE 2022.

The examination schedule is now available on our website.

The 2022 examinations will take place online. Candidates can take the exams in a location of their choosing but must be alone in the room. Other exam location requirements are similar to those for EQE 2021.

Candidates will have the opportunity to access several mock exams.

The first batch of mock exams will be made freely available to candidates on WISEflow for an extended period from mid-October 2021. These will include:

- the main EQE 2021 examination papers
- EQE 2019 papers A and B
- EQE 2014 paper C
- EQE 2016 paper D
- EQE 2021 and 2019 pre-examination papers
- EQE 2021 mock exam papers A, B, C and D as provided by the epi. These will already be familiar to candidates who have taken the EQE 2021 mock exams.

Please note that WISEflow will be updated with improved features towards the end of the year. Changes to the user interface will be such, that candidates already familiar with the current version should have no difficulty working with the new version. The improvements mainly relate to the editor, the PDF file viewer and general system stability.

The updated version of WISEflow will be ready for new mock exams in December. The epi will be creating a new set of mock exams for this improved version. Candidates will be able to use these mock exams to acquaint themselves with the new features and to check they have the necessary equipment.
