Description

This workshop focuses on the assessment of sufficiency of disclosure for inventions in the biotechnology and medical fields. Prior to the workshop, participants are invited to carefully study the training material available on the EPO website.

Participants are also expected to complete a case study between the two live sessions.

Participants are welcome to bring their own working examples for discussion in the group.

Technical requirements

The online sessions will be held on Zoom; a camera and microphone are also recommended.

All times given in the programme are CEST.
